The advances on overland shipments were urged strongly by representatives of steamship lines operating from the Atlantic coast to China, Japan and the Philippines, as under the recent abnormally low rates the Atlantic lines were losing much of the traffic that ordinarily went by their ships. It is calculated that $5 per cent. of the feright moving to the Far East by either coast originates in the territory west of the Ohio River and east of Billings.

BIG SEAPLANE TO FLY 18 MILES OVER LAND

Hazardous Trip From Hudson to St. Lawrence River.

New York Herald Bureau, ) Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2. J.
The giant navy seaplane NC-9, eister craft of the NC-4, which made the first transatiantic flight, will leave Hampton Roads to-morrow for New York city on the first hop of a journey to Detroit to participate in the aerial contests to begin there Saturday. On the flight to Detroit part of the journey will be overland, a rather hazardous feat for a flying heat.

Ing beat.

There is an eighteen mile stretch from the Hudson to the St. Lawrence Hiver and for this distance there is no possible way for the flying boat to land. The wing spread is 125 feet, so that the wing spread is 125 feet, so that the canal cannot be used except in an emergency, but it would mean that the wings would be broken. The program calls for flying at least 5,000 feet high over this eighteen mile stretch, so it would be possible to glide to open water if motor trouble developed.

The flight from New York city is to be up the Hudson across lakes Champiain and George, down the great lakes and over Niagara Falls to Detroit.
